A Private Talk with Ben Hayden

[From the Salem Record.]

We gave our readers an intimation that Mr. Ben Hayden was fast and furious when he gave tongue before the Salem Democracy on Friday evening, but we must particularize a little—especially as his admirers are trumpeting around that he "said tremendous things." Unfortunately for Ben he is nothing if he is not personal. This arises from various causes he naturally envies every man who has the advantage of him in good looks, and most people have the start of him considerably in that particular—especially Republicans, as well as many of his own party including Beriah Brown. Then Ben has an aversion to a fat man like Secretary May who naturally acts the gentleman, and he hates a good looking man like Gov. Woods whose oratory discounts his own as much as a plum pudding does a poultice and he curses a financier, which makes him hostile to F. N. Cooke.

All of the above republicans have reputations for gentlemanly character are go d looking dressers well and are building or have built comfortable houses which facts are enough to arouse the indigenous antagonism of an individual whose photograph would express everything we wish to say much better than our editorial.

Gov. Woods, he says, was a few years ago running a ferry across Snake river, and he thinks he has no right to be building a nice house in Salem. What is that to you, Ben? Can't a man run a ferry and be Governor afterwards? In the light of history we should say, yes. And if he builds a house and pays for it that is also a legitimate enterprise. Last summer the Democracy said Gov. Woods received ten thousand dollars for stumping California. We hope he did, and if he wants a habitation, as well as a name, what business is it of theirs?

Mr. Secretary May has built a house all the surroundings of which show taste, and it of course arouses the indignation of men who have no taste except for onions and whisky, to see a tasteful residence.

Mr. Cooke has traveled in Europe and has son in law purchased "Headquarters" for ten thousand dollars, during his absence. Ben is madder than ever to learn that and fumes terribly at it. Now, the fact is, Benjamin, Mr. Cooke is a cousin of Jay Cook, and belongs to a family with whom financial talent is an hereditary complaint. We have heard it insinuated that the late pleasure trip was really a financial enterprise, that Mr. C. stopped a little while in New York to lure Vanderbilt and William B. Astor into a few good trades, and then went to Europe, where he made a trifle by some dealings with Barings and Baron Rothschilds helped Louis Napoleon to a loan or so and then came back. The Oregon branch of the Cookes were determined to keep up the family reputation. What is that to you, Benjamin.

Suppose this was not so—and we only give it as rumor—don't forget, Ben that if Mr. Cooke travelled through Europe he took Mr. Smith your successful competitor with him and it is base ingratitude to find fault. And also, Ben don't forget that Mr. Cooke gives bonds for faithful discharge of his duties as Treasurer.

Now, Ben you are the subject of slander, yourself. Men say the only financial talent you ever showed was when paying $200 in currency into the school fund, at a time when the school fund expected you to pay gold. Then men say you wear Bush's old clothes—which we don't believe, though they particularize, and say they recognize his overcoat on your back which changed you so your dog didn't recognize you, and unkindly compare it to the fable of the ass in the lion's skin, but we wish to do you no injustice. We know that you have lots of property have several of the best farms in Polk, and are a man of substantial wealth, but you ought not to envy folks who know how to spend money, as well as make it.

Somebody may want to know how you got rich, and where your money came from, how many offices you have held, etc. and the impudent inquiry may be made. How many Democrats have got rich in office, or have laid up $20,000 a year off of small salaries? You are perfectly welcome to show up official wrong and corruption, that is right and proper, but discover it first. Attacking private character by innuendo is not the current course for a gentleman to pursue—for we wish to consider you a gentleman, though it may be an affirmative of the winged oat to prove you one.

Suggestions for 'Democrats to Ponder On

A Virginia paper, the Charlottesville Chronicle, indulges in those reflections, which it may do our Democratic brethren some good to read:

We have to complain of the Democratic party North as much as we complain of President Johnson. Next to President Johnson we own all our present troubles to "the unterrified"—the irrepressible Democracy." In the first place, the northern Democrats always agreed with us in our ideas concerning secession, and often encouraged us to exercise our rights. Many of them declared that the South could be coerced only over their dead bodies.

Since the war, northern Democratic journals have continually fed us on the false hope that the Democracy, in conjunction with President Johnson, would give us our rights, if need be, with the bayonet. Witness the more ultra Democratic journals, the Day Book, Metropolitan Record, Evening Journal and Daily News and the more moderate journal, the New York World.

Senator Sherman declared that if the Southern people complained that the military act was harsh they had their Northern Democratic friends to thank for it, since they had voted down an amendment which was quite a mitigation of the severity of the original bill.

This is so, and we have a good many other things to thank our Northern Democrats for. We thank them that they encouraged us to suicide. We have to thank them that since the cessation of the war, they have again fed us on false hopes. We have to thank them for keeping up the exasperation of the Northern people against us.

Some Republicans remarked in Congress that the more the Democrats resisted Republican policy, the more decided and emphatic that policy would become. Brooks, of New York, a recent convert to Democracy, answered that this might be true, but the Democrats would continue to resist. Fully for Mr. Brooks! Living in a "loyal" State, as he does, it costs him nothing to "resist," but his analogies are to be visited on the Southern people. He can pursue his partisan policy with impunity, but the South is to be made the victim. Party tactics make it necessary for the Democrats in Congress to oppose Republican policy generally. In the meantime the most vital interest of the Southern people is the plaything of the politicians, the shuttlecock that is tossed back and forth between the battledores of the two opposing factions, the football that is kicked about by two hostile parties, the unhappy grist that is ground beneath the upper and nether millstones.

Of this we are tired in the superlative degree. President Johnson has tried to reconstruct as has most signally failed, acknowledged his defeat, and surrendered at discretion. The "little villain" of the New York Times, and men of his ilk calibre and kidney, with their milk and cider policy have also tried and failed. The Northern Democracy have lent a helping hand wherever failure has been certain to be the result, and now the exigency demands new men, new measures and a new policy. Men who formerly led at the South are not up to the demands of the crisis. We need an infusion of new and vigorous party blood into the veins of our Government. They tried that has been generated under the present circumstances—our immediate surroundings. The old fogy politicians and fossil remains of an antiquated press, are not capable of appreciating our present position. Nourished in their infancy and fed in their prime upon ideas which have been forever destroyed, they are starving in their dotage by endeavoring to live upon the shadows that yet linger behind the substance which has eluded their grasp.

A rather exceptional case was lately decided by the English Court of Queen's Bench, in favor of compensation against a railway company. A man who had had one of his hands so much hurt by the slamming of the door of a carriage on a railway, had recovered a verdict for £1,000 against the company, but on appeal the verdict was set aside. The plaintiff appealed to the House of Lords, but before the case could be heard the man died. His heirs however insisted on carrying it out, and the company has now concluded by a compromise a verdict of £2,300 against the corporation—£500 for the widow and £200 for each of the nine children of the deceased.

Testimony of Ad Interim Thomas

WASHINGTON, April 11.

General Thomas was recalled and examined by Mr. Stanbery. The President told him to take charge of the War Office, instead of Mr. Johnson. His witness made then as he then went into the other corrections all of which are untrue. To flat contradictions of what he testified to yesterday.

His witness was cross examined by Mr. Butler.

Question. How do you correct your testimony? Have you memoranda?

Answer. I have not.

Question. How then can you fix facts and dates different from yesterday?

Answer. I have reflected since yesterday.

Question. Did the President always tell you to take charge of the War Office?

Answer. He did.

Question. Why didn't you say so yesterday?

Answer. "Because I did not think."

Question. Did you call Sarsenet a liar and murderer?

Answer. "I did tell him he was a liar." [Laughter.]

Question. Did you say he was a murderer?

Answer. "I don't recollect—I may have said so." [Laughter.]

Question. "Did you tell Mr. E. B. Johnson that you would have Stanton out if it sunks the ship?"

Answer. Never, sir.

Question. Didn't you have a conversation with P. B. Johnson?"

Answer. Yes I saw him at my house."

Question. When was that?

Answer. Can't fix the date.

Question. Were you joking then?"

Answer. "Certainly." [Great laughter.]

Question. "Do you always talk jokingly in that way?"

Answer. Sometimes. [Laughter.]

Question. Did you say so to Johnson?

Answer. I don't know. Johnson knows better than I do if I did. [Laughter.]

Question. Did you say anything to Johnson about getting Stanton out?

Answer. I never said I would use force against Stanton.

Question. Then you were joking? [Laughter.]

Answer. "That's all." [Laughter.]

Question. That's the only explanation you can give about it?

Answer. Yes. I think that's sufficient. [Laughter.]

Question. "Did you talk with any body about this matter since yesterday?"

Answer. I talked with several persons. They said they were glad to hear my testimony. [Laughter.]

Question. Did you talk with anybody else?

Answer. "Yes with General Townsend."

Question. Did you receive a letter from Stanton on the 21st of February?

Answer. I did not.

Question. When did you receive that letter?

Answer. On the 22d."

Question. "Then all you said yesterday about what took place on the 21st is not so?"

Answer. All that wasn't so. [Great laughter all over the Senate.]

Question. Did you not swear yesterday that the President told you to go and take possession of the War Department?

Answer. I did.

Question. Wasn't true?

Answer. "No it wasn't." [Renewed laughter.]

Question. "Did you read over and correct your testimony?"

Answer. I did.

Question. And then you signed it Thomas, Adjutant General?"

Answer. "I did."

Negro Suffrage in New York

The New York Tribune adverts to the present agitation in Democratic circles, of the negro suffrage question as follows:

The Hon. Samuel J. Tilden has been making a speech whereof one chief aim is to reconcile Democracy as a tribe with Aristocracy in practice—the doctrines of Jefferson with the acts and aims of Calhoun and Yancey. Mr. Tilden is a crafty lawyer and if there be a possible way to prove Black to be White and therefore no color at all he is the man to do it. Let us see how he proceeds.

Who asks Mr. Tilden, 'can be admitted in to that grand partnership of self government which we have instituted?' and he gives this re

Plain Questions—Wanted, Plain Answers

The people are occasionally informed by stump orators that it is an insult to their intelligence" for any one to assert that the Democratic party is not and has not always been most zealously devoted to the Union If this be the case it must follow that it is an "insult to their intelligence" to suppose that they possess any knowledge of their country's history or have the smallest recollection of the events which have transpired during the last eight years. Some inquiries arise [illegible] to which would be of interest to a great many people.

1st, That party loves the Union so well why did it not, when the Union was menaced by traitors, adopt some means for its preservation? Why did it allow traitors to [illegible] up in Congress unrebuked, proclaiming their intention to destroy the Union, and impudently defying the Government to raise a hand to prevent it? Why did a Democratic Congress sit still, witnessing the secession of one State after another and not doing one single thing to put a stop to national disintegration? More than this, why did he issue in solemn official form his declaration that he would do nothing to prevent the dismemberment of the Union and that no department of the Government had any constitutional power to order the withdrawal of any State, or to force such State back after it had actually withdrawn? Why did he permit one-half of the States to confederate together in actual violation of the letter of the Constitution, to explore their independance and to expel some of the United States—making not the slightest effort to maintain the national authority and preserve the integrity of the Union? Why did the entire Democratic party sustain him in this traitorous course? Why did they absolutely deny the right of the Government, under the Constitution, to enforce the authority in the States which had attempted their secession from the Government of the Union? If Democratic principles are [illegible] principles on which the Union can be [illegible] and why did that party when in full [illegible] in all branches of the Government, allow the Union to be dissolved without a single protest, and even deny that there was any power in the Constitution to prevent this dissolution?

2d. If it loves the Union so well why did it, [illegible] secession was consummated, after the rebel confederacy had been formed and the "Southern" government inaugurated, after the country was divided and the only possible means of uniting it was to strike down the rebel power by force of arms,—why did it [illegible] that "coercion" was unconstitutional? Why did it [illegible] every endeavor to embarrass at every step the [illegible] action of the war? Why did the Democratic Governor of Oregon declare that it was contrary to all reason to apply [illegible] to a Government like ours"; why did he, with the approval of the entire Democratic press and party of this State, refuse to [illegible] acknowledgment of the right of the South to form a Government of their own, and the unconditional surrender of all the public property within their limits? Why did the Democratic State Convention of Pennsylvania declare that the preservation of the Union by war was "simply preposterous"? Why did the Democratic State Convention of Illinois in 1863 declare its opposition to the [illegible] prosecution of the war as tending to subvert the Constitution?" Why did their Convention in Connecticut resolve that "the most odious doctrine of coercion should be resisted by every lover of our country?" Why did their Convention in California declare that rather than continue the war it was "in favor of the recognition of the Southern Confederacy?" Can any Democratic orator who [illegible] it is "an insult to the intelligence of this people" for an opponent to charge that party with a want of fidelity to the Union, [illegible] questions in such a manner as will not be "an insult to intelligence?" Observe that the questions are based solely on the [illegible] of the Democratic party. The [illegible] Texas quoted are the official declarations of its principles and policy, not the declarations of private individuals or unauthorized irresponsible persons. As the mouthpiece of the "Democracy" are declaring that their party is and always has been so devotedly attached to the Union, it would be interesting to hear them answer the questions above propounded In reality, the whole matter is easy of explanation, and we can give it in three lines, viz. When the rebellion occurred, one part of the Democratic party [illegible] it, and the other part encouraged it and refused to support the Government in [illegible] One part undertook to dissolve the Union, and the other part held that it was well [illegible] and in violation of the "time-honored principles," to prevent them

[illegible] charges thereto which we have given in full as first published in 1864 are garbled.' He then quotes at great length from his writings at that time to prove that we misrepresented him. "The tragedy of it," as Pistol would say, is that the more he quotes the more clearly he proves [illegible] charges stated. We could not give so much space to the quotations, but took short extracts here and there to show their general spirit He republishes long paragraphs which confirm our accusations against him and his party more fully than anything we quoted. Such stupidity is quite astonishing. "Some men," says Hogg in [illegible] "are born great, some get said fancy themselves wiser, whereas in fact they are only stoopider." This remark suits in the present case exactly.

Every surviving traitor who fought to destroy the Union is now in the ranks of the Democratic party This traitor element constitutes its chief strength and will forever dictate its policy

A Democratic paper called the Grande Ronde Sentinel has been started at La Grande, Union county. McComas & Jeffrey are the publishers.

Another Handful of Choice Extracts.

We propose to quote a little further from the record of a professed patriot The other day Bernah Brown denounced as "Irish traitors" and "mercenaries" those Irish American citizens who do not support the "Democratic" party. Turning to our files of the San Francisco Press, the paper which Bernah Brown published in 1864, we find the following choice piece of writing

[From the Press, February 20th

It is well known that through the representations of Meagher, Corcoran and other Irish mercenaries, the name of the Fenians has been used to procure large numbers of recruits in Ireland and that those have been mustered into the Federal service immediately on their arrival in New York. If any Irish that Gen. Meagher is anything more than a mercenary soldier of fortune, they are not familiar with his personal history

The offence of Corcoran and Meagher was that they were supporting their adopted country against the rebels We give a few additional general items

[From the Press, March 29th]

Our sole purpose is to reconcile and unite the entire conservative sentiment of the country in opposition to the party now in control of the Government We never advocated, encouraged or defended the war, never believed it was inaugurated or prosecuted by the Administration with the least expectation or design of restoring the Union

[From the Press, Sept 21]

Every dollar expended and every life sacrificed under the pretense of maintaining the Constitution and restoring the Union has been deliberate robbery and murder

[From the Press, April 4]

We have advocated peace from the beginning of the war Not Fernando Wood, Thomas H Seymour or Vallandigham are more decided in their convictions of the impolicy of the war than we are, and have so expressed ourselves on all proper occasions.

The Right of Expatriation.

The treaty lately effected with the North German Confederation has inaugurated and will successfully establish as an international principle a right for which the United States have contended for half a century, the right of the citizen to divest himself under the forms of law of his natural allegiance, and adopt another at his pleasure. A fruitful source of private annoyance and public embarrassment is thus removed, so far as our German born citizens are concerned, and we have reason to hope that the example of Prussia will in due time be followed by Great Britain and other European Powers Two years ago the doctrine which Prussia now concedes she enforced against us, even to the extent of forcibly reclaiming naturalized Americans, born citizens of Prussia, from the decks of our own vessels in her seaports The United States have everything to gain and nothing to lose by this triumph over the old feudal law which has for centuries been the dogma of Europe. We offer homes, lands and liberty to the millions of the Old World, and they will throng our shores all the more eagerly since they know that they may revisit, if they wish, the spot of their birth without the risk of being held to any civil or military obligations there This is surely a long step in the advancing march of personal freedom, and it is in accordance with the spirit of progress which characterizes the efforts of the party that has controlled our country since 1861.

In certain quarters the impeachment of Andrew Johnson is denounced as a partisan measure. It is not partisan any more than other great measures of the last seven years. If the impeachment of Andrew Johnson is a partisan proceeding, so was the maintenance of the Republic by the Union party All the measures for preserving the nation were carried by the Union party against the strenuous opposition of the "Democracy." The war was denounced as a partisan war, and all measures for suppressing the rebellion were opposed by the Democratic party as partisan measures. But because that party refused to discharge their duty to the country, it was no reason why the Union party should be equally recreant. So now, if Democratic members of Congress refuse to discharge their duty by impeaching Andrew Johnson, his impeachment by the Union members is not a partisan act any more than the war measures of Congress which the Democratic members opposed were partisan acts. During the rebellion Democrats, from partisan motives, abandoned their duty From partisan motives they now oppose the removal of the President from office. Did it never occur to those who complain of the impeachment of Andrew Johnson as a partisan measure, that their defense of him is based entirely on partisan grounds and is actuated solely by partisan considerations?

This is the style in which the San Francisco Examiner talks: "Trot out, then, your Grants, or Sheridans, or any other of your men who owe their greatness to the country's ruin. With such a man as George H. Pendleton to lead the Democracy, they will sweep the country from center to circumference." The Examiner's style is the "regular" Democratic style. Grant and Sheridan owe their greatness to their country's ruin, but Pendleton was always a patriotic Democrat who would not fight except on the rebel side of his country. Trot out your Pendletons!

NIGGER ON THE BRAIN."—At the political discussion at McMinnville the other day (which, by the way, was the largest meeting ever convened in Yamhill county), a gentleman in the audience named Rev. Smith in the use of the term "negro suffrage," and by actual count it was ascertained that he repeated it seventy two times in fifteen minutes! Smith is either actually demented or attacked with softening of the brain, and is greatly to be pitied.

The editor of the Unionist has been on a visit to Yamhill, and has learned that J. S. Smith is endeavoring to contract for wool while on the canvass. The Unionist advises farmers not to engage with him, as it is feared he is as unreliable on the wool question as he is on politics.

The Eugene Guard, (strongly Democratic) calls its brother of the democratic paper at Albany "the fossiliferous pedant who mumbles flat nonsense of the 'stinkhorn sort, through the columns of the State Rights Democrat." Brethren dwelling together in unity!

It will not be long—says the Montana Gazette—before the Prickly Pear Valley and the whole country lying between the Rocky Mountain range and the Missouri river will be surveyed into townships and sections

The Unionist remarks "Bernah says that he has remained twenty-one years in one place We didn't know that the laws of Wisconsin were so severe Fourteen years is usually the longest penalty inflicted"

An immense gold-field has been discovered in Peru, the metal being so abundant that the Indian, with the simplest and rudest mechanical aid, is able to gather several ounces of gold in a few hours The region is situated in Northern Peru, upon the upper waters of the rivers Maranon and Morona, tributaries of the Amazon, and has hitherto been known since the earliest occupation of Peru by the Spaniards, as the "Land of the fierce Indians" The native race is still war-like and barbarous in the extreme, and the expedition which has resulted in the public knowledge of the remarkable wealth of that territory in the precious metal, which has just returned to report to the Peruvian government, was attended with great exposures and hazards, such as to indicate that small parties of explorers would find the greatest difficulty in securing a position there But the fabulous qualities of gold existing there will tempt and insure a speedy removal of all the existing obstacles

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—The bark Comet, from the Sandwich Islands, arrived last night bringing the following intelligence: The volcano of Mauna Loa has broken out in the most terrific eruption known in history. The eruption was preceded and accompanied by about two thousand shocks of earthquake. On Hawaii the destruction was heavy and over one hundred people perished In the Kau district every house was prostrated with the exception of one or two Stone walls were the [illegible] on that hardly one stone lay upon another and trees and rocks were tossed in all directions, land slides were innumerable and fearful, rushing downwards like avalanches, burying people, houses and cattle beneath them An earth eruption was thrown out of the side of the mountain along the beach came a tidal wave over 6 feet in height, which extended along the coast for a distance of 50 miles, this came in, washing right over the coconut trees, and running some distance inland, carrying out a small native village and all the persons that were within reach at the time. Some thirty-seven souls of the inhabitance barely escaped. The summit and side of a hill 1,500 feet high in Kau, was thrown a distance of 1,000 feet, over the tops of trees and landed in a valley below, the turf and trees covering the hill apparently undisturbed. The crater of Mauna Loa has been enlarged and broken down on one side so that it is now about two miles in diameter, from which vast jets of lava are emitted. A lava stream from the crater on the summit of the mountain has gone under ground and broken out on the slope far below, only six miles from the sea Here jets of lava have forced themselves through the earth, throwing rocks 1,000 feet in the air and a stream of lava 1,000 to 1,500 feet wide and six miles long is flowing down to the sea at the rate of 12 miles an hour An island 400 feet high has been formed in the sea and is adjoined to the mainland. The excitement is intense. Large numbers are flocking to the volcano The damage by earthquakes upon the other islands was considerable, but not serious.

A large number of laborers, employed by contractors in the vicinity of Lone Mountain, struck yesterday for eight hours. This morning a large crowd of the strikers, armed with clubs, went around from one contractor to another throughout the neighborhood, and by threats of violence to the laborers, compelled them to suspend work. Fortunately there were no collisions, and there fore no one has been arrested. It is uncertain how the matter will terminate.

A German Republican paper is said to be in embryo, to be conducted by Wm. Hueffner.

John Brady fell off the front platform of a street car yesterday. The wheels passed over one of his legs, crushing it badly.

The term of imprisonment of Jules Dana, sent from Calavaras county in 1867, expired to day, and he was immediately re-arrested as Lefevor, who, two years ago, murdered a German named Sam, at Virginia City, and afterwards murdered his jailor, U. S. Gregory, and made his escape

A "Democratic" Document.

The following letter, written by the prince of Northern traitors to a rebel Colonel, was found in the papers of the latter, captured in Tennessee in 1863. The traitor who expressed such sympathy for the rebellion and prayed for its success was being supported unanimously by the "Democratic" party of Ohio for Governor when this letter was written

DEAR COLONEL Your kind note and invitation of yesterday was this morning handed me by your brother-in law, who will hand you this in return. It would give me much pleasure to visit you and your command before leaving the Confederacy, but it is now impossible to do so, as I have made arrangements to start this A. M. with the earliest train for Wilmington

You surmise correctly, when you say that you believe me to be the friend of the South in her struggle for freedom. My feelings have been publicly expressed in my own country, in that quotation from Lord Chatham—"My Lords, you cannot conquer America" There is not a drop of Puritan blood in my veins. I hate, despise, and defy the tyrannical Government which has sent me among you, for my opinion's sake, and shall never give it my support in its crusade upon your institutions. But you are mistaken when you say there are but few men in the United States, North. Thousands are there who would speak out but for the military despotism that strangles them.

Although the contest has been, and will continue to be, a bloody one, you have but to persevere and the victory will surely be yours You must strike home! The defensive policy lengthens the contest. The shortest road to peace is the boldest one You can have your own terms by gaining the battle on the enemy's soil.

Accept my kind regards for your personal welfare, and sincere thanks for your kind wishes in my behalf, and hoping and praying for the ultimate cause in which you are fighting, believe me as ever,

Your friend, C. L. VALLANDIGHAM.

...ORNIA AND IDAHO TELEGRAPH.—The newspapers of Idaho and Eastern Oregon so far as they have spoken about the matter, are unanimous in advocacy of telegraphic communication with Portland via the Columbia river. We published the other day an extract from the Walla Walla Statesman and now we find the following in the Boise Statesman:

"If there is any one thing that the people of this city and indeed the people of all this portion of Idaho east of Eastern Oregon and the southwestern portion of Washington Territory, have neglected more than another it is a telegraph line, either from the overland line at or near Silver City via Owyhee and this place, thence via Grand Ronde and Walla Walla to Dalles City, Oregon or from the Western Union line from Salt Lake City to Helena Montana Territory, either of which routes are feasible, but we think the latter route the best. In case the Western Union line can be tapped at or near old Fort Hall there is no doubt but to this city, Baker City Umatilla and Summerville, Walla Walla and Wallula, Washington Territory, and to Dalles City, Oregon, to the Dalles where it will again unite with the Western Union line now in process of construction from Portland to the latter place. The reasons why we think the latter route preferable is that in the first place, it is shorter, being less than one hundred and eighty miles from Fort Hall to the place and in the next third hundred and fifty miles less to Dalles City making the entire route over this route but little more than the first named point, over a comparatively level country except the Blue Mountains, with plenty of timber for poles. Particularly between here and the eastern connection, and if it and necessary the rich mining section of Atlanta, Boise and Owyhee could easily be reached by short lines; besides the line would follow the general course of the railroad if one be built, and we think there is no doubt but it will be from the Central Union Pacific to the Columbia river and thence to the Sound."

...ARDS that made it the proper route may be the fact that the first ...point made by the Western Union Telegraph Co. which was submitted prior to the organization of the Oregon and Idaho Co., the ...ion of which was as follows:

"The company do not issue stock as formerly in building the line, but I think would build to and through your country if inducements were given by your people in the ...ock or scrip, to be repaid by this company by ...ing from the points where scrip is taken. This would be a kind of guarantee as to the amount of business your country would give us, and whether a line there would pay or not."

...there is substantially what the Oregon and Idaho Co. have already proposed. The Statesman then goes on to say:

"Now, the question is, will our people and those ... Washington Territory and Oregon, who are directly and ... only interested in a telegraphic line, subscribe with ... liberality to make it an object for the company to rush this work along. We need be no argument to ... that we need a telegraph, and can we get ... better terms? We think not."

THE LUMBERING BUSINESS AT ST. HELENS.—A friend from St. Helens informs us that the lumbering mills at that place are now running in first rate style and turning out ... at almost an astonishing rate. On Tuesday the same cut into street lumber (for Portland) and ... ing mill section, fifty nine logs, the smallest of which ... twenty inches in diameter and 120 feet long. The average ... of lumber was 30,642 feet. The scrap day the mills placed, tongued and grooved, 8,000 feet of flooring. Next week the lath saws will be running. The Bark Mariner is about to commence loading with lumber for the Company. She will take a 600,000 feet, all boards, other small lumber, which will be landed at the St. Helens Mill Co's yard at the foot of Fourth street, San Francisco. Mr. A. B. Abbott will accompany the brig as supercargo and will have after refusals most of the time at San Francisco, Abbott & Hall, are the San Francisco agents.

Jeff. Davis. The New York Herald Against the "Stern Statesman."

A Richmond dispatch has already announced that a new indictment has been found by the Grand Jury of the United States Circuit Court for Virginia against the Hon. Jefferson Davis. The Richmond Examiner says:

"The indictment states that in 1862 he armed and equipped troops for the purpose of levying war against the United States, that he took forcible possession of the city of Richmond and excluded therefrom the forces of the United States; that he armed and equipped military forces for the purpose of levying war against the United States in the States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Tennessee and Missouri and that he gave to the said forces information, counsel and advice, maliciously and traitorously to assist them in levying war aforesaid; and that at Manassas, on the 21st of July, 1861 with a number of persons, am unting to 30,000 or more, armed, equipped and organized as military forces with the usual weapons of war, and maliciously and traitorously fought against, killed, wounded and captured officers and soldiers of the United States army, and destroyed and captured munitions and materials of war, the property of the United States and that he, with Robert E. Lee, Judah P. Benjamin, John C. Breckinridge, William Mahone, Henry A. Wise, John Letcher, William Smith, Jubal A. Early, James L. Kemper, David H. Hill, Ambrose P. Hill, Gustave J. Beauregard, Wm. H. C. Whiting, Edward Sprigg, Samuel Cooper, Joseph E. Johnson, John B. Gordon, C. F. Jackson and T. O. Moore, did maliciously and traitorously conspire and levy war against the United States."

The remainder of the indictment consists of a recapitulation of the battles of the war, the charge that Mr. Davis appointed and commissioned persons as officers in the Confederate army, and concludes as follows: "That during the whole of the said rebellion, by reason of resistance to the execution of the laws of the United States, and the interruption of the ordinary course of proceedings, process for the commencement of any action, civil or criminal against the said Jefferson Davis could not, by reason of such resistance of the laws, interruption of such judicial proceedings, be executed or served with process for the commencement of any action, civil or criminal, within the intent and meaning of the statute of the United States in such case made and provided."

It has been said of late that the Manhattan club in New York, comprising August Belmont and other magnates of the Democratic party, is talking of compromising with the greenback fever of the West by reviving the old ticket and urging the nomination on the 4th of July, of McClellan and Pendleton. A long ago as last November, politicians shrewd as F. M. Stanton predicted the nomination of McClellan again.

An old bachelor in New York offered a young lady a penny for a kiss. She gave him the kiss. He refused her the penny. She sued him. He pleaded no consideration. The court decided that a kiss was a legal consideration and made him pony up.

By Dr. Richardson's Apparatus, Lately Improved by Dr. Koehler, with Ether Spray.

WILLIAM KOEHLER,
DENTIST.

OFFICE AND RESIDENCE—Southwest corner Front and Yamhill Streets, opposite A. J. Northrup & Co's Hardware Store.

I am now making amongst numerous other styles of ARTIFICIAL TEETH the Improved Universite Plates of Dr. G. W. Cook's Patents, patented Dec. 3, 1867. The Improvement of which consists in having the entire roof or upper surface of the plate entirely hollow, which only makes the plate durable and strong, and cheaper than the common Rubber Plate. It also can by it be made comfortably thinner and lighter, whereas the price is but little above that for common plates. Call and see specimens.

N. B.—Dentists wishing to secure the office right for Dr. G. W. Cook's Improved Universite Plates can have it made out to them by applying to this office.

N. B.—To strangers I would say, that a constantly increasing Dental Practice for the last five years in this city, will be a sufficient guarantee for them to receive a first Class and Finished Piece of Work. Numerous testimonials to the same can be given at the office.

A THRILLING INCIDENT

In the annual table of Miss Ingalls in Burmah is well told in the Baptist Missionary Magazine, relating how she sent for the wife of the Buddhist high priest, who had been nearly killed and how while in the midst of her place in their temple where not. But the priests had ever before been admitted, she was permitted unrebuked to enter from the sacred precincts which none but the high priest dare touch, and to remain and act on the sufferer, she first all through the magical influence of the Pain Killer, called by them the "cool medicine," a name carefully bestowed upon it in curing their many diseases, one of them so malignant as to cause fatal in that climate among which were Cholera, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, the Diseases of the Liver and Kidneys &c. NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant, but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver,

Hon. Wade's Views.

HIS VIEWS LOOK AS TO THE PRESIDENCY—CUPIDITY OF PUBLIC MEN—DIFFERENCES WITH HIS PARTY—PROFESSES HIMSELF A FRIEND OF ANDREW JOHNSON—HIS VIEWS ON THE PRESENT CRISIS, ETC.

The opinions of Senator Wade on the crises are becoming of increased interest. "Agate," the well known correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, publishes an interesting account of a recent interview with him, from which we take the following extracts:

WADE'S FEELING AS TO THE PRESIDENCY.

In the outset, it may be said that Mr. Wade displays a feeling with reference to the great duty that is about to come upon him, very creditable to his judgment; and very little in accord with some of the earlier notions of his character. "I don't suppose anybody will believe me," he says "at least, it is the fashion not to believe such things; and so I suppose there's no use saying it; but to track I would a great deal rather escape this -coming prospect of the Presidency than not, if I could do it honorably and without desertion of duty. I don't mean to say that I wouldn't like to be President—I would be a fool to say that. But to be a place of a President—to go in for a first term of a year, in the midst of the excitement of the Presidential election, when there is no time to be used so little time to do it, is not a thing to be coveted. Under the circumstances, there's no great honor in it, it's only my fortune to be in the place that may make it necessary and there's no chance of much of a career in it. I'd have plenty of time to make thousands of an omfort by my appointments, and not time enough to make many friends by my administration.

"Now I would like," continued the bluff old [illegible] with that [illegible] frankness, "I would like to stay where I am and I don't make any secret of it. That is something that I think I know something about. I've been in Congress a long time, and I believe I know what a member of Congress ought to do. If I can't stay in the Senate, then I should like to get as near to it as I can, by presiding over it. As for your Presidency, I have—I tried it, and I know very well that its duties require a different order of faculties and habits of work. I've never had the Presidential fever very bad. The Senate was good enough for me, and I had my own way, there wouldn't have been much likelihood of my ever trying to get out of it. There's one thing I've fully [illegible] to my mind to: whatever else may be done, I shall try if the power is put into my hands, to bring the Executive Department of the Government into harmony with the Legislative.

"I don't believe that the President ought to be [illegible] a policy-maker. When I am asked what my policy will be in case I have to direct [illegible] I generally answer that I won't have any policy. It's the duty of the Executive to adopt a policy, and the duty of Congress to execute it. We've had trouble enough from the efforts of Presidents to set up a policy for themselves, and force Congress into its adoption, by the use of the Government patronage.

"The very first thing I should try, if such a thing as me are talking about should happen, would be to see to it that the real Union men of the South are protected. Those people down there have made as enough of trouble, first by their treason, and since the surrender by their own [illegible] disturbance. I don't believe they have ever been ruled with a firm enough hand. I am, of course, in favor of giving them justice always, but they must [illegible] with the rights of others, or they lose the laws.

"There's another point on which I feel very strongly. I am convinced that our Government ought to come down very nearly to the point at which they stood before the [illegible]. Then, I believe there's another thing we've got to do. The party can't live without it, and, what's more important, the country can't prosper. We must stop this outrageous system of fraud and [illegible]. The Government can't stagger under it any longer. There was, as compared with the present state of things, but little fraud under Lincoln's administration. But now the money of the people is used with a lavish hand to corrupt the people. This must be reversed as quick as an angel can, or it would reverse the locomotive when he saw a bridge ahead of him. Why, sir, [illegible] are men without credit at home. Men that couldn't get [illegible] to go to their own town [illegible] to get the revenue of the Government. I know [illegible] and so do you, to whom some of my constituents have to pay their taxes, to whom no neighbor would even lend twenty dollars, with the [illegible] of getting it paid this side of judgment day.

"And there's one more point that I've long had my mind made up about. I believe that in levying [illegible] we ought to keep our eyes steadily on [illegible] and should govern us through out; we should strive to take the burdens of industry and to secure our laboring classes relief from [illegible] competition."

"That is a tariff pretty strong, doesn't it, Mr. Wade?"

"Yes, I'm [illegible] pretty strong; it means a high tariff [illegible] protect our laboring classes, as [illegible] I have had to say half so well. I never made any [illegible] speech on the tariff without [illegible] that I felt that the time for protective policy had passed, and that [illegible] collecting it [illegible]. I feel that the time to stop, and have peace [illegible] protective system is [illegible] our [illegible] Eyes always supposing that [illegible] by [illegible], and especially of [illegible] and any indication abroad that [illegible] [illegible] that opinion.

"Well, it is all right so long as you don't say for a fair, impartial [illegible] which everything shall be heard, that can be brought forward for the defense, 'This or that pin,' he exclaimed, 'would permit [illegible] even if we desired it here. The [illegible] of fair play is a national characteristic, and I say we [illegible] that it is so. But I do object, and so will the country at large, to any motions for mere delay, or any pettifogging on technicalities. The people are terribly in earnest in this [illegible] of affairs. They won't permit us to [illegible] any [illegible] advantage, but neither will they sustain us in permitting a case of such overshadowing gravity to be delayed by lawyers' tricks or palpable [illegible]. I told Hendricks the other day, that I'd like to know if he had consulted his client when he was objecting to my being sworn in. I told him Andy and I had always been pretty good friends, and if he'd let politics alone, and I wouldn't believe that he thought he wouldn't get justice from me, till he said so himself. That is, though, I'm getting almost afraid to make any more jokes with anybody. They are all ready to attack such a high and mighty man as I am whenever I say. Why, I can't say a word to Cattell, for example—can't give any of my old friends a side-winder on that—for fear of [illegible] thought serious. Though when it comes to [illegible] I wish they'd all try it, that I'm likely to try and find out whether I [illegible] before I begin the selection of one. And as to that whole business of office [illegible] the less I say about that—if I should have the task of making appointments—[illegible] City, tired by having compliments now to bore me about it."

"It isn't true," he said, in answer to a question, "that I've not of good stories with Grant. I could [illegible] a specimen with him. That story of my saying that when I talked politics he talked horse, is a pure invention of the man that wrote it. I never said that, nor anything like it."

SLIGHTLY KNOWN ABROAD.—It appears that Carving Fork Smith has been heard of in California. The Oakland Daily News, in reply to an article in the San Francisco Examiner on Oregon politics, says of him:

"Smith is generally known by the name of Carving Fork Smith, from a certain transaction [illegible] of the Utopia to him, the particulars of which any old Oregonian can give the Examiner. During the Indian war he was living on Whidby's Island, in Washington Territory, and joined there a company of volunteers raised for the defence of the Sound. Governor Stevens ordered the company into the field against the Indians. Smith drew all rations very regularly as long as the company was a home company, but as soon as there was a chance for active service he deserted and went to Portland, Oregon, which was deemed the safest place that could be found against the Indians. If the editor of the Examiner has any doubts on this subject, or looks upon it as a slander, he will overhaul a copy of the Commissioner of Indian Reports for the year 1856 he will find this fact nearly stated by Governor Stevens in a report made as Superintendent of Indian Affairs, in which he had occasion to allude to Smith, who had made charges against the Indian Agent, Mike Simmons, an old Oregon pioneer. Stevens denounced Smith as an infamous calumniator, and does gave an account of his desertion. The truth is very plain that he was only set up to be knocked down. We can hardly imagine anything more absurd than the expectation that the people of Oregon will elect 'Carving Fork Smith' to Congress. If that notorious wit, Senator Nesmith, had been a member of the convention; we should have thought Smith's nomination was gotten up by him as a good joke. Logan, the nominee of the Union party, is a man of very decided oratorical ability. He belongs to the celebrated Logan family of Illinois. He is an old line Whig, and has been in Oregon many years. He is probably the best lawyer in the State, and is personally exceedingly popular. It appears like a slander on the Oregonians to say that he will be beaten by such a man as his competitor."
